

HMS Havant

Summary of Service 1939 to 1940

Battle Honours: Atlantic 1940 - Dunkirk 1940

Special Edition to Commemorate the 70th Anniversary of the Loss of HMS Havant and the Laying of a Wreath at the Havant War Memorial by the Mayor of Havant, Councillor Yvonne Weeks.

1 June 2010

Ralph Cousins

HMS Havant

Summary of Service 1939 to 1940

HMS Havant was one of six destroyers that were ordered by the Brazilian navy on 8 December 1937 and was built by Messrs. J. Samuel White & Co. Ltd. at Cowes on the Isle of Wight. It was intended to call her BNS (Brazilian Navy Ship) Javary.

She was laid down on 30 March 1938, launched on 17 July and completed on 19 December.

However following the declaration of war with Germany on 3 September 1939 these destroyers were requisitioned by the Admiralty on 7 September and became known as the 'Havant' class. The other 5 were named Harvester, Havelock, Hesperus, Highlander and Hurricane.

On 8 January 1940 HMS Havant went to Portland to carry out her working up routine. On 31 January she sailed for Plymouth where she joined the Western Approaches Command. She left Plymouth on 4 February in company with HMS Ardent and HMS Whitshed on an anti-submarine sweep to Cape Finisterre arriving back at Plymouth on 9 February. At Plymouth she was taken in for the fitting of de-gaussing (anti magnetic mine protection) gear but during this time she developed defects that put her out of action until the middle of March. It was suspected that these defects were the result of sabotage.

On her return to duty she was allocated to the 9th Destroyer Flotilla, Western Approaches Command, operating out of Plymouth. For the remainder of March she was on anti-submarine patrol on which she had one contact but the result was doubtful.

On 7 April HMS Havant sailed for Greenock where she was due to escort a convoy going to Gibraltar. However, during her passage to the Clyde, the Germans invaded Norway and Denmark so she was sent to Scapa Flow in the Orkneys where she arrived on 10 April. At this time the 9th Destroyer Flotilla was temporarily detached to the Home Fleet.

On 11 April HMS Havant sailed in the company of HMS Hesperus to Thorshaven in the Faroe Islands to determine the local political situation there following the German invasion of Denmark and reported that all was quiet.

They then remained in the area providing an anti-submarine screen for HMS Suffolk that was bringing a Royal Marines detachment to occupy the islands (Operation Valentine). This operation took place on 13 April and HMS Havant returned to Scapa Flow on 14 April.

HMS Havant sailed from Scapa Flow on 17 April and until 7 May was escorting convoys to and from the Narvik area of Norway. On arrival back in Scapa Flow she was detached to Greenock.

Her next assignment was to take part in 'Operation Alabaster', the occupation of Iceland. She sailed from Greenock on 14 May escorting SS Franconia and SS Lancastria to Reykjavik. After the landings she returned to Greenock arriving on 25 May.

At about this time the situation in France had deteriorated and 'Operation Dynamo', the evacuation of retreating troops from Dunkirk, was started. HMS Havant sailed from Greenock on 27 May and arrived in Dover on 29 May.

On arrival at Dover she was immediately despatched to Dunkirk where she embarked 500 French troops off the beach at Bray-Dunes. She also attempted to tow HMS Bideford, who had had her stern blown off, off the beach but the tow parted. She sailed back to Dover with the troops arriving at 0400 hours on 30 May.

On the morning of 31 May HMS Havant sailed from Sheerness and after picking up some troops off the beach at Bray-Dunes went in to Dunkirk Harbour to pick up more troops to make a total of 932 and return to Dover.

She immediately sailed back to Dunkirk and embarked a further 1,000 troops arriving back in Dover at 0230 hours on Saturday 1 June.

After a quick turn round HMS Havant was back alongside the jetty at Dunkirk at 0730 hours where she embarked a further 500 troops. When leaving the harbour at 0800 hours there was a heavy air attack and the destroyer HMS Ivanhoe was hit amidships. At 0840 hours she went alongside her and helped remove her troops. She then proceeded down the channel at the entrance to Dunkirk under heavy dive-bombing attacks all of the way.

At the end of the channel HMS Havant was hit by two bombs in the engine room and a third bomb dropped approximately 50 yards (46 metres) ahead of her that exploded as she passed over it.

All of her troops were transferred to the minesweeper HMS Saltash and after an attempt was made to tow her she was sunk by gunfire from HMS Saltash at 1015 hours in position 51.08N 02.16E. HMS Havant's casualties were 1 officer and 5 ratings killed and about 25 wounded. At least 25 troops were killed or wounded.

HMS Havant Data

Crew	145
Displacement	1,400 tons
Length overall	323 feet (98 metres)
Beam	33 feet (10 metres)
Draught	12 feet 4 inches (3.8 metres)
Propulsion	Twin Screw 34,000 Shaft Horse Power C A Parsons geared turbines.
Speed	36 knots (67km/h, 41 mph)

Armament

- 3 x 4.7 inch guns
- 2 x .5 inch machine guns
- 2 quadruple revolving torpedo tubes
- 8 x 21 inch torpedoes
- 1 depth charge rail - 20 depth charges

At some stage the aft 4.7inch gun was removed in order to accommodate up to 110 depth charges.

A Previous HMS Havant that served during World War I

This was an Aberdare type minesweeper built in 1917. She was sold in August 1922 to Siam (Thailand) and renamed the Chao Phraya after the river that flows through Bangkok.

References

Naval Historical Branch - March 1978.
Lt Cdr Geoffrey B Mason - Service Histories of Royal Navy Warships in World War 2.

HMS Havant Photographs and Memorials

Memorial window in St Faith's Church, Havant.

The inscription reads:

TO THE GLORY OF GOD
AND IN MEMORY OF ALL
WHO SERVED IN HER
DUNKIRK 1940

Memorial stone at The Royal British Legion headquarters, Brockhampton Lane, Havant.

Members of the crew that were killed in action:

WILLIAM HENRY DAWSON - Engine Room Artificer 3rd class.

ALFRED EDDY – Stoker Petty Officer.

HEBER PERCY MCBRIDE – Chief Engine Room Artificer.

REGINALD F. C. SMITH – Stoker 1st class RFR.

PATRICK STANTON – Leading Stoker.

ERNEST S.STRIBLEY – Lieutenant (E).

Havant residents can be rightly proud of the contributions made by her namesake ships in the two World Wars.

The Mayor of Havant, Councillor Yvonne Weeks, laying a wreath at the Havant War Memorial on 1 June 2010

The Royal British Legion banner for HMS Havant: AVE! HAVANT – ‘GOOD WISHES!’ HAVANT

HMS Havant arrives at Dover loaded with troops from Dunkirk.

Troops disembarking at Dover from HMS Havant.

For nine days, between 26 May and 4 June, 1940, nearly 340,000 troops were evacuated from Dunkirk.

