Dear Havant staff

We understand that up by the main road from here the Horsefield may now be redeveloped. This is very bad news indeed. I thought it was part of the National Landscape and therefore not allowed to have a major development unless there were some sort of exceptional circumstance. So what are those – there aren't any. It's just adding to the spread of Emsworth unnecessarily.

Surely if an area is part of designated National Landscape – that means it is worth keeping as the open space it is. If this development happens here then more 'National Landscape' will be snapped up by developers round Chichester Harbour. Surely with Southleigh there is more than enough new building happening in this area.

Please do a rethink on this matter. Living locally we love this area. Lets keep a little open space along the road leading from the west from the A27 – there's not much left now and we locals treasure it.

Yours sincerely,
